

Dynamic Scott Thrills Big Audience

WIZARD CHIEF OF TECHNOCRATS HAS AMAZING ACCOUNT

Thousands Turned Away Despite Overflow
When Empire Theatre Packed On Saturday Night

With every seat from pit to gallery of the New Empire Theatre occupied before the advertised commencement hour, with crowds standing in the wings and a thousand people unable to obtain admission, Edmonton on Saturday night heard the dynamic Howard Scott, chief executive officer of the Technocratic movement in America. For two hours the Chief Technocrat spoke in a conversational manner, reducing as far as possible to the vernacular, the results of research by himself and his colleagues in America and abroad, like Thorstein Veblen, Steinmetz the electrical wizard and a score of the most eminent engineers on the continent. Then he turned to the audience of all ages he stood and answered the questions that came in showers from all parts of the house.

With blackboard, with chalk, with pointer, with calculator, with logic, yet without a single note from the reservoir of his vast knowledge, he showed the coming of the power age had made possible the old form of government. Dressed in that in the next five years the numbers of men and women who will be freed from the ranks of the unemployed by the advance of engineering and science will be so great because the collapse of the present system, he unfolded the picture of what democracy has in store for the people of this northern continent.

MASS LUXURY

He outlined homes of a new type, air-conditioned and equipped with every modern convenience, of which there will be 100 million in America; will make homekeeping a matter of millions of automobiles—one of which is a motorized bicycle to make 120 miles an hour; a life of luxury will be had by two-cycle opposed piston Diesel weighing 30 pounds, giving 42 miles to a gallon; a man will have a card of living eighteen times more rich than our present standards, when men and women will have his and her own money furnished by the state; the bulk of the work of life can be accomplished by each man between the ages of 20 and 60 in 10 hours a day, four days a week, for eight months of the year, with education till the age of 60; every man and woman will be assured of a fair division of the goods of the technocratic state in right of his or her citizenship.

POPULAR SPEECH

Howard Scott punctuated the speech of the Technocrat throughout his address and at the close he gave an enunciation of the motto:

"No man with a spider can work in eight days. Two men

Spirit Love Kept Hope For Lifers

ST. PAUL, Nov. 25.—The strange fate of a deathbed companion that kept love alive in the heart of a "lifer" in the Minnesota state penitentiary was the story concerning Michael J. Garry, 40, of St. Paul, whom the prison last December had sent to his homeland and red to his blood sweethearts, Maria Delano.

Gentlemen in the St. Paul jail said that Garry had died Sunday morning after exacting a promise from a friend to continue his love—a hope he had given to his hikers.

This month minnows continued to reach Gentilove, encouraging him to "hope—a hope which eventually came in the form of a pardon."

War Flashes

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Near Aden, the United States Red Cross said Sunday Japan has sent enough food to the British to allow the national Red Cross to care for 10,000 Ethiopian wounded.

NAPLES, Nov. 25.—A detachment of 2,500 troops of the Tarente regiment, which had been held up by a typhoon since Friday night, reached the steamer Empress of Asia early Saturday morning after plowing through the Pacific to the last camp of Piedmont to the last drop of their gasoline.

PORT SAID, Nov. 25.—More than 1,700 persons passed through the Suez canal en route to Europe from Nov. 12 to 22, the British Consul said yesterday. In the same period 6,000 tons of war material were shipped to their respective ports by the majority of the countries.

MONTRÉAL, Nov. 25.—Until the election was over, the political campaigns in its colonial hills were conducted in secret, but induced voters to visit their respective polls early.

Throughout the province the electorate was greatly interested in the result of the election, but the majority of the people did not go to the polls.

REGINA, Nov. 25.—More than 1,700 persons passed through the Suez canal en route to Europe from Nov. 12 to 22, the British Consul said yesterday.

Highlights Of Speech

The year 1929 was the maximum year of employment under the present system. Employment has been declining ever since, and will continue to do so.

Instead of fighting to put overtime on human beings, we have to go out and organize to put the overtime on the machine when they belong.

No maker who operates a corporation can afford to pay the present price system; he wouldn't operate it one whit better than the Miltens, Morgans or Brackets.

PAIR STRANDED SEVEN DAYS ON 6 FOOT ISLAND

TREK ENVOYS
URGE COUNSEL FOR DEFENCE

Regina Delegates to Meet Government Tomorrow Meeting

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—Matt Shaw, one of the western relief trek leaders who came to Ottawa last summer, voiced a demand yesterday that a mass meeting be held right away to get government to accept the mithwall into the Regina Inquiry into the Dominion Day riot.

"Why should not be supplied with what we want by the government for the proper proceeding of our side of the story?" he asked. "They prove that they were wrong. Why should they enjoy special privileges before an impartial commission."

TO MEET GOVERNMENT
Saskatchewan along Jack King, national secretary of the Co-operative Commonwealth Youth Movement. The three, with other delegates, will present their case to the government at Ottawa within a few days.

When Prime Minister King was in Regina during his election campaign he had expressed sympathy to a delegation of the mithwall, but since taking office in July since taking office, Shaw said.

WELCOME CHANGE

Transfer of the labor laws from the Department of National Defence to the Labor Department was a great advance, said Shaw. He said the men of the mithwall would become similar to the labour camps of Germany.

"It is impossible to imagine how irresponsible you think the citizens of a democracy would have continued to do what we did for two months when we were cut off from all advice referring to accusations of the trekking had been made by the Red organization. They knew the situation and the men had suffered. The same thing exists in Regina. The people who saw what kind of treatment we were right behind us in our protest."

FOR LENIN'S SAKE
"I say for God's sake let's keep a united front," said Mr. Shaw. "In appealing for justice for the trekkers. 'And if you won't keep it for God's sake, keep it for Lenin's sake.'

EASTERN STATES
UNDER SNOWS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The season's first heavy snowfall last night hit the eastern seaboard from New England to the Great Lakes and snow and sleet in the eastern United States.

No major traffic accidents, mostly of a minor nature, were reported as automobiles skidded over ice-covered highways.

Coupons for roads were warned by the weather bureau that a storm was expected to reach gale force northward.

In New York City 3,200 regular street cleaners were put to work with snow plowing machines and 15 motor brooms.

New Jersey, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Long Island were also coming up to five inches in depth.

The weather bureau said a disturbance of considerable intensity was moving slowly northwest off the Virginia capes.

Sacred Govt. Studying Master Retailer Code

CALGARY, Nov. 25.—The Alberta cabinet during the coming week will consider a general code governing the retail merchandising industry in the province, Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, stated in an interview here last night.

The provincial secretary said the move, in a sense, might be regarded as the first step in the establishment of Social Credit principles in Alberta, but added the code would not be limited to Alberta and only remotely connected with Social Credit.

Adoption of Social Credit principles undoubtedly would include the regulation of industry within the province, but the code would not affect prices eventually, Mr. Manning declared.

At present the provincial executive was concerned only with the setting of a "store code" which would regulate all retail trade if he continued. Supplementary codes to govern each branch of the retail trade would have to be evolved later.

A store code was being planned for the wholesale industry, Mr. Manning added.

Arbor vitae hedge should be trimmed soon after it begins growing in the spring.

PLAYWRIGHT DIES WHILE SUCCESS NEAR

Elsie Schaufler's First Break on Eve of Her Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Before Elsie Schaufler died, she watched a little old tattered scrap of a man paint this sign above the Ethel Barrymore theatre just off Broadway: "Parnell, a Tragedy of Erie Schaufler."

Elsie Schaufler waited a lifetime to see these man-sized letters. She had been writing plays for 20 years, and the only one she had ever written, a play called "Peep Show," had opened in Philadelphia in 1932 and then for some reason closed without ever having run where it failed. But this was New York, and here was a man putting her name up high where everybody could see it.

COLD ON TRAGEDY

So Eddie Schaufler was happy that he had died before he had given up hope for Parnell. It had gone through the rounds of producers. She had sold it herself, always with the same result: "They don't want to take Shakespeare's tragedy." So the old thumb-marked script sat in a drawer, unread, until agent and Elsie Schaufler had gone back to Kansas City to her physician-husband and their three children.

GIVEN A CHANCE

One day the script landed in the hands of Fredric Stewart and starting on Broadway, Schaufler and Frederick Ayer had not acquired the rights to it. They gave it to Alfred Parnell, and they bought it, and when it was time to produce it, they found that the stage manager had hired Guthrie McClintic to stage it. Stewart Chancier to design its costumes, and bring it to England and brought Mac-

Dana Was Young and Romantic—Two Men Wanted to Marry Her—Start the Story Today

CHAPTER I.

A SLENDER girl with a charming, eager face and rich brown hair, Dana Westbrook, had been waiting at a taxi stand and store holding until the rattle of the cab died down the quiet street. She thought, looking up at the big, weather-beaten old building in front of her, that it looked very dreary, almost as though it were ready to give up.

There was nothing familiar about it. Nothing even faintly suggesting the house of which she had dreamed since she was a child.

She had asked the cab driver, puzzled, "You're sure this is the Cameron home? Mrs. William P. Cameron, you know?"

"Yes, miss. I know the place well."

And Dana Westbrook had climbed out. And now stood staring up at the old house supported by immense Corinthian columns that had once been white and now were only a dirty gray.

Soberly, she picked up her light case and opened the old iron luggage-decked on rusty hinges. And then up the long, brick walk from which many bricks were conspicuous.

A moment later she pulled down the ancient bronze bell. A hollow peal, which she knew must be resounding hideously within, greeted her.

The door was opened. Very little at first, as though by a cautious hand. And then wider, permitting the face of an old lady to peer through. She had gray hair, drawn back neatly, and blue eyes that held a hint of surprise in them.

I MPOETUOUSLY, Dana put down her travelling case. There was a gossipy note in her voice: "You're Grandmother, Cameron, aren't you?"

"Goodness me, no!" The old lady's voice rose in protest. Then, "Why must you be Dana. Come in, my dear. And where is your grandmother? She went to meet you."

"I am your grandmother," said Dana. "It is the faintest idea what my grandmother looks like. But one seemed to be looking for me, and so I got a cab and came out."

* * * * *

"Yes, of course," and the old lady, eyes darting anxiously from Dana to the door. "I'm afraid, though, your grandmother is not here. She has gone away. You see, we always meet trains. And it is rather a long time since there has been a train to come home for the first time in twenty years in a cab."

Dana, smiling, took off her hat, and the old lady quickened her pace on each pick of the check. Kisses were somehow not enough.

"You're Aunt Elsie," Dana explained. "You are the only person I have ever seen because you are exactly as my mother described you to me."

"Only older." The shy blue eyes smiled understandingly.

"Thank you, child. There, I hear you're going to stay, aren't you?"

Dana heard it, too. It was evidently old, just as was the house. The atmosphere was making a great deal of noise as it came up the drive.

Dana's heart was suddenly beating fast. She had never seen her mother had said to her which she had never forgotten. "The people who are here are not good for you, for she is a stern person. Dana, but I have been making a great deal of noise as it came up the drive."

Dana had quivered over the whole of the last. It was not until she had learned what her mother meant:

"It was this knowledge and the reason that she turned back to face the stern old lady, that

Take Notice—To Whom It May Concern . . .

Jackson Bros. Jewelers Ltd. are compelled for the following reasons to cancel the giving away the 1936 Chevrolet car.

It has been declared illegal.

Eminent counsel have declared that the calculation of how long a certain watch will take to run down with one complete winding is a game of chance or a game of skill and chance, and that the contest would be declared by the Courts illegal and accordingly it would come under Section 236 and Sub-Section D of 236 of the Criminal Code which makes it liable to a penalty of two years' imprisonment and to a fine not exceeding two thousand dollars.

It was not the intention of Jackson Bros. to flaunt the law. Accordingly, they have decided to put this contest on to the calendar of events.

Premier Has Denial Phone Office Move

Has Not Even Considered Transfer of Department To Calgary

Denial that the government had ever considered moving the provincial telephone office from Edmonton to Calgary on Monday by Premier William Aberhart.

Asked if he had a mind to move Monday, the premier was informed that strong rumors were current over the weeks telephone headquarters were being moved to Calgary.

"No, I have heard nothing of it," he replied. "I have not even considered it at all."

"No, I have not," he said.

Reported that as the Alberta government telephones have a large number of their own in Calgary that it would be better to transfer this city by transferring the head office to another city and then considerable saving could be brought about in the matter of consolidation of the telephone system from here and the staff could be dispensed with.

The premier, in denying the rumors, said that the head of the department was a man and it could be best administered from here.

C. H. Schlar, president of the Canadian Telephone Company of Canada with headquarters in Hamilton, Ontario, arrived in the city Sunday evening to open a new office on National lines from Vancouver.

With him is Earl Spafford of Moncton, New Brunswick, manager of the company. Motoring up from Calgary Sunday to meet with the chief executive of the company, Mr. W. G. Alberta manager for Tuckett's. The eastern executives are making their annual inspection tour.

SUNDAY SPORT INTERFERENCE NOT PLANNED

Interference by the provincial governments by blue laws, of property liberty of Alberta people of the province, has been a sore trial to the government, Hon. Ernest C. Manning, provincial secretary, told the Legislature yesterday.

This was stated by Premier William Aberhart here on Monday.

Hon. Peter Manning, however, denied that existing provincial government had no intention of interfering with existing laws, as they were enacted by previous governments.

Premier Aberhart on Monday interviewed on the subject, said that he had no mind to interfere with existing laws, as they were conducted according to regulation.

Police Court

"Have a heart, Your Worship," pleaded Aunt Elsie, who for seven years has only paid $275 in fines for bootlegging and moonshining. "Please don't make me pay more. I'm not able to pay."

"Thank you, child. There, I hear you're going to stay, aren't you?"

Dana heard it, too. It was evidently old, just as was the house. The atmosphere was making a great deal of noise in it came up the drive.
